Protest Ruling

If a player needs a decision to be determined, the first person to be contacted is the referee. The referee will form his decision by all means that seem suitable to him. If the player wants to protest against that ruling, he may contact the head referee and after that the tournament director. In any regular tournament, the tournament director's decision is binding and final. There may be a further appeal to the ACS Executive Director, if present. A deposit of $100 from the protestor is required for such an appeal and it will be forfeited in case of an adverse final decision.
